WITH THE BASEBALL BOYS

Rockyford played a league fixture here Friday evening. The batters enjoyed a swiftest and by the end of the game the players were dizzy watching the runners chase themselves around the bases, for by that time 17 runs had been made. Rockyford making 7 and Gleichen 10. The total score at the end of the game was 16 to 9 in Gleichen's favor. Rockyford threw up the ghost after going to bat in the seventh. Rockyford made 3 runs in the first, four in the second and one in the sixth and wound up with a home run in the seventh. Gleichen made 2 in the first 8 in the second, 3 in the fifth and 1 in the sixth. They did not go to bat in the seventh but folded up their bats and lit out for home. W. Somer made the last play.

J. McArthur, N. McMillan, B. McArthur, G. Blair, Norviki, Al Wilson, A. Clifford, K. Bell, H. James, B. Brown, W. Blaney, B. James, T. Mouza, A. Quinell, J. Cook and Fox

J. C. BUCKLEY, M.L.A. NOMINATED FOR THIS RIDING

One of the largest and most enthusiastic conventions in many years was held in Strathmore Monday, when J. C. Buckley, M.L.A., was nominated to contest the Gleichen constituency for the U. F. A. There was in the neighborhood of 200 people present of whom 94 were fully accredited delegates.

The candidate, Mr. Buckley, spoke briefly, thanking the convention for their confidence in him and assuring them of his continued devotion to the cause.

The principal speech was made by J. E. Lyburn, Attorney-General. He defended the action of the government, Major Douglas the provincial holding that as the people would be called upon to vote on social credit proposals, it was right that they should have all the information on the subject that could be obtained. He answered all criticism of the government as well as many questions to the satisfaction of the convention.

Those attending from Gleichen were: F. Daw, Mr. and Mrs. F. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. R. Umbricht, Miss Goodwin, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Oliver, Mrs. J. A. McArthur, Mrs. F. Sammons, Mrs. Etheridge, Mrs. Quinell, W. F. Goodwin.

THE WEEK AT OTTAWA

(By F. W. Gershaw)

The Minister of Finance introduced his budget resolutions this week and they passed through the House rapidly. There are only a few changes being made in the customs duties this year and all the taxes such as the 3 per cent sales tax and the 3 per cent excise tax will remain in operation. In 1933 the wine increased on 10 articles, in 1934 on 120 articles and in 1935 on 138 articles but this year such changes were made. Mr. Hodges, the minister, is clearly anxious in poor health and in recognition of this fact there was no prolonged questioning or discussion of his resolutions.

There will be no change in the prices of government annuities these have been on the market ever since the days of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the minister this week pointed out that they were much cheaper in price than the insurance companies' annuities. Every government has been anxious to increase sales as by investing small amounts, monthly or yearly anyone can provide a retiring allowance that cannot be attacked by any process of law and is the safest investment available. The Superintendent of Annuities, at Ottawa, will give full particulars to any one.

As a result of the charges made by Mr. Stevens, a good deal of time has been spent in investigating into the money buying and price spreads problems. This has cost about half a million dollars as the solicitor got alone $32,000. Now, the long waited for legislation, based on the report, has come down. The tariff board will have the power of investigating, reporting on and advising the government on all questions relating to commodity standards and protecting the consumer generally.

The capital structure of any company can be investigated and no shares can be offered to the public for sale until the commission is satisfied. However, the company receiving the approval of the commission to sell shares may not advertise that fact. No attempt is made to fix prices although unfair trade practices may be investigated. If it is considered that these trade practices are against some written law the tariff board may advise the government. A Director of prosecutions at a salary of $12,000 per year will be appointed to assist and advise the commission.

The Prime Minister is to all appearances regaining his old health and vigor. The tributes paid Mr. Bennett and Mr. King to the memory of the late Lord Byng of Vimy, were both masterpieces. Both were impressive, eloquent, well delivered and had the ring of sincerity. Both paid tribute to the deceased's record as a great soldier, a great governor-general and a great friend to the Veterans who served under him at Vimy and in some other fields of conflict.

LADIES GOLF CLUB APPOINT OFFICERS FOR THE SEASON

Mrs. Wm. Schmidt was elected president of the Gleichen Ladies Golf Club at a recent meeting. Mrs. Goodwin, past president occupied the chair. Mrs. J. A. Downie was appointed secretary-treasurer for 1935. Five were discussed and will remain very low for this term to encourage a many as possible to participate in this form of sport. Miss Peggy Yates was elected captain of the club. And when in charge of the golf course and draws there will be a tournament staged every Wednesday afternoon and with Mrs. L. Sather in charge as convenor of the refreshment committee, tea will be served. Larger tournaments will be staged from time to time with the adjoining towns. The interest displayed up to the present time, the club promises to have a successful season.

JUDGING OTHERS

It is true to say that in judging the character and motives of another person we should try to imagine ourselves in his place. But how many of us do it? How many of us make a conscious and determined effort to be fair in our estimate of the other fellow?

A recent article quoted an unknown author who has set forth some thoughts in this connection which are worth repeating here.

"When the other fellow acts that way, he is ugly; when you do it, it is nerves."

"When the other fellow is set in his ways, he is obstinate; when you do, it is firmness."

"When the other fellow treats you especially well, he is toady; when you do, you are doing it's fact."

"When the other fellow takes him, he is dead slow; when you do, you are deliberate."

"When the other fellow picks a law, he is cranky; when you do, you are discriminating."

"When the other fellow says what he thinks, he is spiteful; when you do, you are frank," and so on.

It is really hard to apply to ourselves the same yardstick which we are measuring in our neighbor. But we ought to try to do it.

THE FRAGRANT WEED

Excellent tobacco is grown in Canada and it is finding increasing favor in the British market which absorbed eight and a half million pounds of manufactured Canadian tobacco in 1934. In addition, practically all of the remainder of the 1934 Canadian crop amounting to 13,500,000 pounds was sold in the home and other markets. The tobacco plant grows very rapidly and the leaves have a distinct flavor and texture.

It is cultivated in all parts of the world. In the United States, the great producer, and other countries cater to the British market. In Canada there are five general types grown, namely, flue-cured, Burley, dark, Quebec pipe, and cigar, but the name of tobacco varieties is legion. The most curious of all is the Dwarf type, a native of Mexico. It is probably the smallest tobacco plant known and produces only a few tufts at the base. On the other hand the stalks of the Peruvian plant grow seven or eight feet high. You can see Cuba resemble Canadian cigar tobacco.

The Peruvian tobacco is the Peruvian tobacco, which is the best.

The tobacco of Syria is one of the most celebrated types known to commerce, and Sumatra tobacco is one of the finest varieties cultivated. Peruvian tobacco, known as Shiraz, is not unlike Latakia when cured, but is not adaptable to cigars because of burning badly. Then there are the Spanish, Hungarian, Turkish, Japanese, Malabar and other varieties, but most Canadian smokers prefer the product of their own country.

The Prime Minister is, as all appreciate, regaining his old health and vigor. The tributes paid Mr. Bennett and Mr. King to the memory of the late Lord Byng of Vimy, were both masterpieces. Both were impressive, eloquent, well delivered and had the ring of sincerity. Both paid tribute to the deceased's record as a great soldier, a great governor-general and a great friend to the Veterans who served under him at Vimy and in some other fields of conflict.

Mr. Schmidt, the new president of the Gleichen Ladies Golf Club, was elected at a recent meeting. Mrs. Goodwin, past president, occupied the chair. Mrs. J. A. ## BALL TOURNAMENT WILL TAKE PLACE NEXT WEDNESDAY

The local ball club is staging a baseball tournament next Wednesday afternoon beginning at 1:30 o'clock. Four teams have entered namely, Rockford, Strathmore, Standard and Gleichen. Substantial prizes have been put up and some good baseball should be seen as the above teams strive for first position. The second game will follow immediately of the first, while the third game will start shortly after six o'clock.

The ball boys expect a large crowd will be on hand, and are making arrangements to handle them properly. At the present time the diamond is in a much better condition than it has been for some years. The rain having had a lot to do with it.

In the evening, immediately after the last game, a dance will take place in the Community Hall with Len Davis Orchestra supplying the music.

ITEMS OF INTEREST OF THE TOWN AND DISTRICT

The ice cream sale Saturday, put on by the United Church Sunday School was a decided success. All the ice cream was sold.

The Old Timers and the All Star baseball game scheduled for June 26 has been postponed until the latter part of July owing to the ball tournament on June 19th. It was thought there would be too much baseball.

V. Kington, the Liberal candidate for this riding in the forthcoming provincial election spent Saturday in town.

A beautiful quilt made by the ladies of St. Andrew's Church, W. A. is being displayed in the window of Mr. Yates store. The draw for this quilt will be made on Saturday, June 15th at the Lilac Tea. Tickets may be obtained from Mr. Yates or any member of the W. A.

Notwithstanding the fact that our local stores have warmed the ladies of district, it is felt that this under the new regulations it is impossible to accept butter unless it weighs full 16 ounces, there is still a lot of butter coming to town that is not up to weight, this the stores cannot now accept and it has to be taken back home. The butter makers should remember that inspectors are now touring the country and all stores have had first warning, second offence means a heavy fine and if that warning is not heeded the store will lose its license.

One of the most interesting spots in the Gleichen district now is the splendid show room recently erected by the C.P.R. under Mr. McMillan's direction. These stores cover the whole plot surrounding the C. P. R. grounds adjacent to the McMillan and Robinson properties. This is really the nucleus of a new orchard and nursery. Here is to be found fruit trees of almost every description, comprising apples, apples, crab, pears, different varieties of plums, raspberries, gooseberries, etc. It will be interesting to watch the development of these in our district. They are receiving every attention and will be thoroughly irrigated from the ditch.

R. A. BROWN'S SALE

SINCE STARTING

Bargains make a sale folks—when you sell a standard oil for 10¢ you get the crowd every time. When you buy a barrel of flour stock for public sale, he puts prices in the stock that people understand. Made 'em snappy and put the whole stock into play with no reservation. Good prices. A good stock make a good sale.

Brown's store is like a battlefield in this week, stripped for action. Mr. Brown admits being "long" on goods and "short" on cash. A late spring and business conditions have been as "dead as ashes" and the financial end of the Brown business is jammed up some—not a little.

HOW TO MAKE ICED TEA

Infuse six heaping teaspoons of Salada Black Tea in a pot of fresh boiling water. After six minutes strain liquid into two quart container. While hot, add 1½ cups of granulated sugar and the juice of 2 lemons. Stir well until sugar is dissolved; fill container with cold water. Do not allow tea to cool before adding the cold water; otherwise liquid will become cloudy. Serve with chipped ice.

"SALADA"
ICED TEA*Funerals Without Flowers

Within recent months the writer has attended a number of funerals, joining with other friends and loved ones in paying respect to a deceased friend. Some of these funeral services have been held quietly and simply in the home, with only a few of the nearest relatives and closest friends of the departed one present; others have been held in churches in order that the larger circle of the deceased's friends and associates in his or her life's activities might be present, or where the religious tenets of the departed might be properly observed. In one case just a few persons were present, people who had voluntarily made small contributions to prevent the remains of the one who had passed on from being consigned to the potter's field.

In the vast majority of cases there were flowers in profusion, wreaths, emblems, sprays, dozens and scores of them, representing an expenditure of many dollars. And the thought constantly protruded itself whether such lavish display of floral tokens was right, in good taste, even in keeping with our Christian beliefs. It could not be questioned that in many, probably most, instances these flowers were sent out of love or a sincere respect for the deceased. Equally true, no doubt, in numerous instances flowers were sent because it became the custom to send them.

As a matter of fact, in the case of weddings, the tendency seems to be in the direction of making funerals more and more elaborate, more expensive, more and more something of a spectacle. The quiet and simplicity in funerals of former days has largely passed, until now it has become a source of heavy expense and consequent worry to people who are not blessed with an over-abundance of this world's goods. Yet because of prevailing customs, nobody wishes to appear mean in the eyes of others when called upon to discharge the last duty to a loved one.

Many people think of these things, believe present customs are wrong, but seldom openly express themselves. In a recent spirited article entitled "Decent Christian Burial," Marian J. Castle attacked the extravagance attending funerals. She showed how sums spent on flowers, tombstones, pomp and ceremony, often impoverish the living families of the deceased. She wisely inferred that the dead might be happier if the funds showered upon their inanimate bodies were used instead to brighten the lot of the deceased.

Discussing this same subject, Alma Hedin, sister of Sven Hedin, the famous Swedish explorer, says it is in the spirit of the times in her country to seek the simplest and at the same time the most dignified memorial for those we have loved. She outlines various steps taken in this direction, including the provision of funeral insurance through the agency of a society, which takes charge of all funeral arrangements, which are the same for every individual. Payment can be made to the society at any time during the lifetime of the insured, the premium being smaller for the young than for the old. The highest premium is paid by those who are over 70, and is about $75 in all. This provides for a dignified funeral of a kind that might otherwise tax the resources of the bereaved family, especially when the deceased happened to be the breadwinner.

In Sweden, too, they have had since 1921 an organization called the Flower Fund, formed to honor the dead "in a more worthy and more lasting manner" than with ornate floral tributes for the bier. Instead of sending an expensive wreath, the friends of the deceased remit the money to the Flower Fund, which sends to the bereaved family a simple memorial message in the name of the giver. The amount contributed remains a confidence between the donor and the Fund.

It was decided that the money received in this way should be applied to obtaining houses with small apartments for old people in straitened circumstances. When three and a half years had passed, the Flower Fund erected a large building on a site donated by the city of Stockholm. Soon a second house rose by the side of the first, and before long six additional houses were built. By this means the Fund provides for more than a thousand old people. These pay a lower rent than they would pay elsewhere and live in comfort. Others are quite free, and there is nothing institutional about the place. It is a private home.

There is a restaurant in each building where residents can buy lunch or dinner for a quarter of a dollar. They may have meals sent to their rooms or prepare them in the small kitchen that accompanies each apartment. Food can be purchased in the building, and there is also a laundry and a bakery. The old people seem to be happy under these arrangements, for there are always more applications than can be filled.

Swedish death notices often contain a line asking that the Flower Fund be remembered. Sometimes another charity is named, for the example is contagious. The important thing is not that the money is donated to a single cause but that the memorial be given a form that will honor the dead by benefiting the living.

Does this Swedish idea not offer a suggestion to the people of other countries? Can we not make our tribute to our deceased loved ones something more lasting than quickly withered blossoms?

Fatal Kiss*Fruitful Method Of Transmitting T.B. To Children

"The kiss of the tubercular mother is often the kiss of death," stated Dr. H. E. Kleinschmidt, director of health education of the National Tuberculosis Association, New York. Dr. Kleinschmidt, who addressed the national health conference at Toronto, said "kissing is a high road in the spread of tuberculosis." While mothers always kiss their children full on the mouth, "they should realize that unless they have been examined and are certain that they have not tuberculosis in a transmissible form, their kiss may be a kiss of death."

A searching party found the bodies of an Englishwoman and an Englishman on the scorching Sahara sands recently and rescued two Frenchmen near death from thirst.

The woman, Mrs. Knight, widow of an English aviator who committed suicide recently at Agadez, French West Africa, had suffered her wrist apparently in an attempt to end her torture from thirst and heat.

A party of four—Mrs. Knight, Peyton, an English resident of Switzerland, and two Frenchmen, Kneebret and Chavex—left Agadez by truck May 22 for Tamantasset, Tassili. After the quartette were driving four days a searching party left Agadez for them. It found the Frenchmen in a serious condition beside the truck near a dried-up river bed.

WHY HIS HEADACHES
CEASED*Wife Put Kruschen in His Coffee

He could not understand why the headaches he had been subject to suddenly ceased. His wife told him, and he at once sat down and wrote the following letter:

"What results I did not know when I told me I had been using Kruschen Salts in my coffee for over two years. I am still using them, as I know of nothing finer for the system."

Headaches can nearly always be traced to a disordered stomach, and to the unsuspected trouble in the stomach, according to the medical man which poisons the blood. Remove these poisons—prevent them forming again—and you'll never have to take aspirin again. And that is just how Kruschen Salts help with lasting relief from headaches. Kruschen Salts add Nature to cleanse your body completely of all clogging waste matter.

Lord Weir will be known as the government's official counsellor of aviation.

Hon. Mrs. Irene Parry, of Edmonton, was another westerner elected by the society.

Control Of Press*Irish Newspapers Apprehensive Of Free State Policy

Prints thrown out in Dublin that the department of justice is contemplating to control the press, have created some apprehension among Irish newspapermen. Spokesmen of Eamon de Valera's Republican government declare it has never got a square deal from the press, home or foreign.

Weekly letters sent from Dublin to papers published in the Irish provinces have also incurred displeasure of the government, acting through its official information bureau, and detectives of the special political branch of the police have been ordered to pursue inquiries as to the correspondents responsible.

Following a precedent set up by the government of William T. Cosgrave, Mr. de Valera's administration has begun the practice of withholding government advertisements from certain newspapers which actively support the opposition. The Cork Examiner, a daily newspaper in Munster, was deprived of advertising when it refused to publish a press release on the "Grow More Wheat" plan in full and without comment.

A Farm On Wheels*Has Given New York Children A Real Thrill

A crowd of New York school children of Manhattan, who get little thrill out of seeing notables promenade Broadway, got into a state of virtual delirium as they watched a farmer milk a cow.

The farm on wheels, complete with a farmer's daughter, was the idea of James V. Muholand of the Parks Department, who wanted city children to see what a real barn looked like. Described as a sort of landing-gate mounted on a trailer, it played a number of three-day stands at various city parks.

When it began its barnstorming tour it was viewed by hundreds of school children who flocked to see it in Central Park at a "preview."

The Personal of the travelling "stock company" included a red Jersey Cow and her twin calves, a sheep and two lambs, a goat and two kid-kids, a month old, a white turkey gobbler, a little russet hen and a hen and four chicks.

Testing Station In West*Hog Feeding Tests Now Being Made At Saskatoon

The Advanced Registry hog feeding station at the University of Saskatchewan is now in full use at Saskatoon. This station, the first in the West, will be taxed to capacity this year, according to Professor Grant McEwen. It will accommodate 25 litter tests, and so rapidly is A.R. work progressing in Saskatchewan that it is feared this station will not be sufficient to handle all experiments. The first three litter representatives arrived for testing in the Saskatchewan station early in May.

Chantecler*CIGARETTE PAPERS*DOUBLE AUTOMATIC BOOKLET*Remedy Is Elusive*Medical World Endeavors To Discover Virus For Treating Common Cold

There is a virus that has something to do with the common cold and that's what so far has eluded the medical world. When it is discovered what that virus is, then the cold may be quelled.

"The germs of the common cold are well known," Dr. E. C. Sewall, of San Francisco, told the convention of the American Laryngological Association in Toronto, "although I believe there is a virus which is not yet known. This virus, in my opinion, is the product of all these germs that go to cause the common cold."

Persons who suffer from frequent colds are probably suffering from the same cold all the time, he said. He said a cold creates an immunity of six months or so.

"This," he said, "is probably the source of the endemic source of colds. These people carry the source of infection in chronic sinus trouble and spread infection to other people."

An official recognition of his long service with the Northwest Mounted Police in the west's early days came to special Constable "Gentleman Joe" McKay at Prince Albert when he was presented with the long service medal.

Forwards from headquarters of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Ottawa, the medal was presented to Mr. McKay by Inspector F. W. Schutze, officer commanding this subdivision. Mr. McKay retired many years ago.

Ruling Is Clarified*Naturalized Germans In Canada Exempt From Military Service In Homeland

German residents in the Dominion are exempt from compulsory military service in their homeland, according to an official declaration from Berlin which gives an interpretation of Chancellor Hitler's recent speech in the Reichstag, in which he dealt with military service. It states that Germans who are naturalized or have made their permanent homes in foreign countries will not be compelled to return to Germany to serve in the army.

The long jaunt did not appear to hurt the lambs a bit," said Dean A. M. Shaw, "and after their 10 mile trip they were fresh and perky. Of course, the weather was cool, but the observation is of particular interest to ranchers and B.C. sheepmen when moving their stock from winter to summer range."

Latest Invention*Television In Original Colors Is The Newest Sensation

Reports of a television invention by Leon Danas, a radio amateur, enabling pictures to be projected in original colors simultaneously with sound, stirred Belgium recently.

The newspaper Le Peuple said Danas made the invention "almost by chance" while experimenting with apparatus for seeing in the darkness. The invention was reported to employ a special screened lamp, while production costs of which were said not to exceed $100.

Railway Pigeon Section

The Nagoya Railway Bureau of Japan is to start a "pigeon section" at an estimated cost of nearly $1,000. Ninety-five birds will be purchased at first, and after several years' breeding they will be distributed to all the Railway Bureaus in the country. The plan is to provide an auxiliary system of communication which will be called into service when all other means have been destroyed.

Officers To Retire*Three Assistant Commissioners Of RCMP To Retire On January 1st Next

Royal Canadian Mounted Police announced impending retirement of three assistant commissioners. A. J. Crawford of Ottawa, C. Jungen of Halifax and J. W. Phillips of Vancouver. They will be granted leave from July 1 and retired next Jan. 1.

Assistant Commissioner Jungen was engaged in the North West Mounted Police in 1899 and passed through the non-commissioned ranks until he was appointed inspector in 1907. He became superintendent in 1922 and assistant commissioner in 1932. He is now officer commanding "H" division at Halifax.

Assistant Commissioner Phillips, officer commanding "E" division at Vancouver, joined the North West Mounted Police in 1898 and passed through the non-commissioned ranks. He was appointed inspector in 1913, superintendent in 1931 and assistant commissioner in 1934.

Would Abolish Military Aviation*Londoners Vote For Limitation Of Armaments

Universal abolition of military aviation and limitation of armaments were favored by an overwhelming majority in a straw-vote conducted by the League of Nations union in Greater London, the union announced.

On these questions and on the question of supporting the league and forbidding the manufacture of arms for profit, the vote favored the proposals by 1,400,000 to 100,000.

Londoners voted 1,375,061 to 88,521 for use of economic sanctions against an aggressor, whatever the nation might be, and 872,275 to 386,664 for use of military sanctions if they were found necessary.

Young Lambs Make Trip*Long Jaunt Did Not Appear To Harm Them

Young lambs are good "trailers". Recently the University of Saskatchewan, Saskatoon, moved its ewe flock to summer pasture at Beaver Creek and the ewes, with lambs at foot, made 30 miles the first day and completed the journey easily the second. Some of these lambs were not more than four days old.

"The long jaunt did not appear to hurt the lambs a bit," said Dean A. M. Shaw, "and after their 10 mile trip they were fresh and perky. Of course, the weather was cool, but the observation is of particular interest to ranchers and B.C. sheepmen when moving their stock from winter to summer range."

Child Labor

In Canada, and in the western provinces particularly, as in many other agricultural countries, laws are enacted and regulations made under those laws from the operation of which the industry of agriculture and those engaged in it are exempted. For example, legislation regulating hours of labor in industry cannot well be made applicable to agriculture, although there are some idealists who, shutting their eyes to practical conditions, urge that such laws could and should be applied and enforced on the farms as well as in the factories. Workmen's Compensation Acts, passed for the protection of urban workers, are in many respects not applicable throughout the rural sections.

As we proceed to write this article, daily newspapers lie on the desk telling of the complete wreckage of the N.R.A. codes governing industry and business generally throughout the United States as a result of a decision of the Supreme Court declaring such legislation unconstitutional, being beyond the powers of Congress to enact inasmuch as it encroaches upon and usurps the constitutional rights and powers of the individual States.

Whatever varying and opposing opinions people may entertain regarding the Roosevelt experiment as a whole, there has been general approval of the provisions in the N.R.A. codes prohibiting child labor in shops and factories. It has been estimated that an army of at least 100,000 children marched out of shops and factories with the establishment of these codes, and there was a widespread belief that thereby the increasing problem of child labor had been solved for the time being at least. Now the protection afforded these children has been destroyed, although it may be hoped that those in control of industry will not revert to the employment of child labor.

Unfortunately, industry accounted for only a small proportion of the 700,000 children under 16 who were listed as working at the time the U.S. census of 1930 was taken. By far the greatest number, almost half a million, were found in the ranks of agriculture, to which the codes did not apply. It has been pointed out that the cotton fields, tobacco fields, truck gardens, beet fields, onion fields, potato fields, cranberry bogs, berry farms, hop fields and orchards with each returning season make their demands upon the nation's children, and that to hundreds of thousands of boys and girls, many as young as six, the coming of the end of school sessions means not the beginning of a holiday time of freedom and play but a period of toil that often starts at sunrise and ends at sunset.

Except for the fact that these children work in the open air, their lot is in many respects a harder one than those children in shops and factories, and one can appreciate the yearning expressed by one 12-year-old boy for the day when he will be old enough to get a job in a mill and work only eight hours a day.

The situation in Canada is, of course, not comparable to that in the United States, or in other lands where congested populations eat out an existence and intensive tillage of the land by the whole family is necessary. Furthermore, in Canada our standard of living and of education is much higher than in most countries, and in the cotton, tobacco and other fields of the southern States. Canadian parents, as a rule, are more desirous of giving their children the highest possible education than they are to work them as farm hands and profit-making laborers.

But inasmuch as many of our laws which are designed to protect urban workers and which prohibit child labor are not applicable to agriculture, a greater responsibility is thrown upon parents engaged in agriculture to protect their children and not lose sight of the humanities, the frailties, the lower powers of endurance of young boys and girls, and to remember that their proper physical development and mental outlook on life necessitate hours of play and recreation; that their bodies and minds will be stunted by long hours of work and no play. It is still true that all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy.

This is not to say that farm boys and girls should not be required to assist in the work of the farm, they should. Doing chores is part of their education and preparation for life, and it would be both foolish and wrong to do for them what they should do for themselves, or permit the development of habits of idleness or shiftlessness. But inasmuch as definite laws for their protection from what may be termed exploitation do not apply in rural as in urban life, it is all the more necessary that rural people guard against selfishness and thoughtlessness on their own part in the matter of overworking children on the farm.

Canada stands high in the matter of child labor. It is a matter of national pride that this is so. We stand high in the matter of education, and our school attendance laws afford the greatest legal protection against the exploitation of child labor, both in city and country. It should be the aim of the Canadian people as individual citizens to raise the standard of child life progressively higher as the years go by, and entirely eliminate the blot of commercialized child labor from this fair Dominion.

Live "Dragons" At Zoo

Habits Of Dutch East Indies Taken To London

There were live dragons in King George's Silver Jubilee celebrations, but they did not take part in the program.

There was a pair of them and they were seen for the first time by the public at the zoo.

Komodo dragon is their full name, though learned people speak of them as monitor lizards. They came from Komodo Island in the Dutch East Indies, whence they were brought by Lord Moyne, who has been there studying their habits in the wild state. Some of the animals in their native habitat are 12 feet long, and their nearly-related, extinct Australian species grew to 50 feet. And these it is that are supposed to have been the originals of the dragon legends throughout the world.

Seen travelling erect on their four legs—not crawling like the alligator—with their longish heads carried aloft and the tips of their long tails sweeping the earth, they are indeed capable of inspiring fright in the primitive mind.

The pair given to the zoo are the most interesting and valuable reptiles in this wonderful collection and some striking photographs of them in their native surroundings accompany the exhibits. They were kept in the zoo sanatorium for a few days so that the keepers might study their habits, and were then put on view for the first time on the King's Jubilee Day.

A Magnificent Statue

Cleaning Revealed Effigy Of Black Prince Is Pure Gold

The Black Prince—or at least his statue—is no longer black.

For centuries the statue over his tomb in Canterbury Cathedral has been as black as his name. It was never cleaned.

Then, about a month ago, it was Centuries of grime and a coating of protective enamel were delicately removed under the direction of Professor W. W. Tristram.

A most beautifully wrought effigy in pure gold on a foundation of bronze was revealed. It is in almost perfect preservation and is one of the most wonderful examples of fourteenth-century craftsmanship. The tomb was built 550 years ago.

"The most magnificent tomb in England," is Professor Tristram's description.

"We clean the cathedral regularly," the Dean of Canterbury said; "but for some reason, I really don't know why, it never occurred to anybody to clean the Black Prince. Now that we have done so everybody is delighted, and we are having a great many visitors. The tomb is one of the most lovely monuments in the world. Its value is incalculable."

Gasoline Discovered

Unable To Explain Gasoline Reservoir Near Earth's Surface

A huge underground lake of pure gasoline was discovered in the harbor district near Wilmington, California, causing hundreds of persons to stampede to the scene.

Shallow wells, most of them dug to a depth of only two feet, were producing from four to six gallons of gasoline an hour.

On a low, area about two blocks square, was dotted with hundreds of gasolines "prospects," some of whom brought hand pumps to speed up production. Motorists filled the tanks of their automobiles and trucks.

Fire Chief Ralph Scott, at a loss to account for the gasoline reservoir beneath the earth's surface, said, however, it probably came from a leak many years ago in a pipe line leading from a refinery to a harbor terminal.

More Counterfeiting

Advances Made In Science Makes Danger More Threatening

The United States secret service conducted advances in science have made counterfeiting a more threatening racket than ever before. Statistics prepared by Chief William H. Morris showed there were 369 arrests and 668 convictions during the year 1930, while in 1934 there were 1,151 arrests and 1,603 convictions.

Counterfeiting the perfection of photo engraving process has enabled the underworld to turn out illegitimate currency in a much more efficient manner.

Construction of the Canton-Hankow railway in China is progressing so rapidly that the line may be in operation this year.

ALL FOOD MADE HER*ILL*Caused by Acidity—Corrected by Kruschen

It is only fair to pass these facts on," writes Kruschen. "I was suffering from over-acidity. I was unable to eat so much extent that I was completely ill. I couldn't take food. When I actually forced myself to take some, it righted me. As a result, I am now taking Kruschen for 12 months, and I have no doubt that it has righted my digestive system. I am quite able to work with vigor again."

Indigestion is caused by a failure in the flow of the gastric or digestive juices. As a result, your food, instead of being assimilated by your system, is converted into a poison, thus producing harmful acid poisons. The immediate effect of the six mineral salts in Kruschen is to promote the healthy flow of the vital juices of the body.

"Little daily dose" ensures the regular and complete elimination of all waste matter every day. And that means a complete end to indigestion.

A Remarkable Personality

British Empire Suffers Great Loss In

or, to be more correct, Col. T. E. Shaw, since evidently he had changed his name by legal process of recent years—robs the British Empire of one of the most colorful figures it has yielded. "Lawrence of Arabia" was more than colorful; he was almost a mythical god. There was even a suggestion of a messianic strain about the man, so remarkable were his powers of leadership and influence.

Lawrence, only 48 at death, and a graduate of Oxford, unquestionably due to the winning of the World War on its Eastern front. He it was who, by sheer personal influence, quelled friction among the Arabs and roused and marshalled them against the Turks. He helped materially toward Allenby's victories in Palestine. He was a strange combination—scholar, soldier, mystic and diplomat. He was a peculiar yet remarkably effective force projected into a romantic yet difficult setting.

Lawrence was as unobtrusive as he was effective. He was a poor working man, so far as self was concerned. Unlike the Pharisees of an earlier day in the life of the East, he sought no greetings in the temple place or chief seats in the temple and at feasts.—Regina Leader.

Rising of the waters of Lac Seul on northwestern Ontario has caused damage to the road bed of the Canadian National Railways, Hon. Hugh Stewart, minister of public works, told the House of Commons, explaining a vote of $175,000 in the public works bill for Lac Seul protection works.

The lake is being rapidly raised under an agreement between

Ontario and Manitoba, in connection with power developments.

The project will be used for riprap along the railway and contributions to the cost of the work will be sought from both Ontario and Manitoba.

Statue Of Famous Explorer Erected In South Africa

A famous explorer's memory has been perpetuated by a memorial erected almost at the edge of the Devil's Cataract of the Victoria Falls in South Africa, where their roar is always to be heard and the spray of tumbling waters ever visible. The memorial is in the form of a statue of Dr. David Livingstone, and was unveiled by the Hon. H. U. Moffatt, a former Premier of Southern Rhodesia, and himself a nephew of the famous explorer and missionary. The memorial to the famous Scot and discoverer of the Falls has been provided by the Federation of Caledonia Societies of South Africa.

Economical Air Transport

Aerial Train Can Drop Gliders At Different Points

A Soviet aerial train took off in mid week from Moscow on an experimental flight and landed four and a half hours later at Kharkov, about 400 miles away. It consisted of one regular aeroplane towing three gliders each manned by a pilot. The use of such aerial trains is that individual gliders can drop off at different points without the main aeroplane landing, thus providing swift economic air transport.

Russia Making Rubber

Oil Waste And Calcium Used In New Process

New processes for making synthetic rubber out of the waste products of oil refineries and from calcium carbide are being tried out in Russia.

Heads of the Soviet Industrial syndicates expect shortly to be manufacturing the product at the rate of 20,000 tons a year.

This will have far-reaching effects on the rubber-growing plantations of the Far East, and will upset considerably the working of the Rubber Restriction Scheme, under which 30 per cent. of the trees are not being tapped so as to force up raw rubber prices.

The first factory for manufacturing rubber from oil waste is now being started in Moscow. The lessons learned there will be applied in the construction of several large plants in the oil well districts.

About 35 pounds of rubber are produced from the waste products obtained from refining a ton of oil. In the past these products in many cases had to be wasted.

The other process, for manufacturing rubber from calcium carbide, is to be operated at Erivan, in Armenia, where a factory is now being constructed. The process is the invention of a number of young Soviet scientists working in Leningrad.

Water is added to the calcium carbide, forming acetylene, the gas of which is often used for lighting. Then, after a series of chemical reactions, a substance called chloroprene is produced and thus ultimately becomes rubber.

The rubber is said to have all the working qualities of natural rubber, and to be very much cheaper.

Best Aid To Sleep

Formula For The Perfect Night-Cap Has Been Evolved

It is generally recognized that the best aid to sleep is warm milk; and that the main use of night-cap is not so much as a soporific as a means of making hot milk the unpasteurized taste which prevents so many people from drinking it regularly at night. Since tea is the cheapest beverage in the world, and the one that is in every family cupboard, its use in this connection is highly desirable. A formula for the perfect milk night-cap has now been evolved. Tea should be made in the usual way, which means that one teaspoonful of leaf should be allowed for each person and one for the pot. The pot should only be filled half way, and when pouring out after the usual four to five minute infusion, the cups should be only half filled. They should then be filled up with hot milk, but not with boiled milk.

Twenty-two million cups of tea are drunk in Canada every day or over eight billion cups of tea a year. The tea industry is therefore one of the farmer's greatest allies, for investigation has shown that the number of people who drink tea without milk is almost negligible.

Welcome Heavy Rain

Australians Glad To See "Knock 'Em Down" Variety

Darwin, Northern Australia, recently welcomed the annual "knock 'em down" rains.

Although this aboriginal description of the torrential downpours, which herald the end of the wet season, sounds grim, the rains are very welcome throughout the Northern Territory. These heavy downpours mark the end of the monsoon period level the long grass, which earlier fails to grow and to grow to a height of six to ten feet.

In the three months following Christmas, about 40 inches of rain falls in Darwin, and the grass borders on the roads was so high that a man driving along the road could see a friend walking along the footpath. In low-lying sections of the city grass grew in a tangled mass feet high. That is why "knock 'em down" rains are welcome.

A Great Salesman

The greatest salesman in the Empire is the Prince of Wales! On a hot day, once, according to Lord Dudley, he talked in Rio de Janeiro for more than an hour. As a result British iron and steel industries received an order for a $15,000,000 contract. Lord Dudley told the story at a meeting of the Iron and Steel Federation of which he is president.

A blind philanthropist has given $200,000 for investigations in Scotland on the origin and causes of blindness, working towards prevention and cure.

Bazaars Are Social Centres

Orientals Serve Tea Or Coffee And Exchange Gossip

Although many Oriental bazaars now have electric lights, most of them close at sundown, says "The National Geographic Society". The doors of the shops are shut and fastened with wooden bars. Deserved by man and pack animals, the alleys are black and silent.

Artisans and vendors of one type of goods usually display their merchandise in adjacent shops. These tiny cloth-shops are factories as well as stores, where articles are finished while the customer waits.

Bazaars are important not only as places of commerce but as places for social intercourse. Customer and merchant take turns shopping to enjoy tea or coffee on the carpet in front of the shop. Gossips are exchanged among the wayfarers passing around the watercarrier with his distended goatkin bag. Jerusalem has its shrewd sellers; Kabul, Afghanistan its sundry shops; Romanic Tehran has vendors of rose-flavored ice cream. Crowds assemble around snake charmers and acrobats in the bazaars at Marrakech. In India, entertainers balance on swords and spearheads. Persia's bazaars have magicians and story-tellers; and there are performances by troops of trained monkeys and panthers owned by street Arabs.

Each bazaar has a distinct personality. Fez is melancholy, with sombre-colored crowds moving through dimly lighted gray-walled alleys roofed with molding thatch, while the plaints of blind beggars fill the air.

Tripoli, that city of white minarets and green palms on the dazzling sand dunes of northern Africa, is peopled by Arabs and Negroes in dingy white woolen shrouds. Through the narrow arches of its bazaars, silent-footed camels stalk into brilliant sunsets.

Perhaps the gayest bazaar is in Timbuktu, Africa, where the national colors are red and black. There, the National Guard wears red uniform. The blouses of school children, the rashes and stockings of men, like the carpets they are buying and the tiled roofs overhead, are all bright red.

The Royal Oak Goblet

Made To Celebrate Marriage Of English King In 1663

An historic wine-glass made to celebrate the marriage of Charles II. and Katharine of Braganza in 1663, is to be sold with the collection of the late Mr. Joseph Bles, a noted collector of old English drinking-glasses. It is known as the Royal Oak Goblet, stands just over 5½ inches high, and is engraved with the King's portrait, the Boscobel oak and the Royal arms. It was made at the Duke of Buckingham's glasshouse, Greenwich. Charles II presented it to his friend Rouse, whose family owned it for many generations.

Doctor: "When did you first suspect that your husband was not all right?"

Woman: "When he shook the hall tree and began feeling around on the floor for apples."

Free T.B. Treatment

Sanatoria Paid To Work Done By Saskatchewan

Sanatoria throughout the Dominion must be opened for the free treatment of tubercular persons if the nation is to be freed of the disease, said Dr. David A. Stewart, superintendent of Manitoba sanatoria.

Speaking before the annual meeting of the Canadian Tuberculosis Association, one of several health conferences being held at Toronto, Dr. Stewart said Saskatchewan had the cleanest tubercular bill of health because "sanatorium doors were nailed wide open" in 1929. This action was followed by a 60 per cent increase in patients.

"We would never have eradicated smallpox if a man had had to mortgage his farm to pay for the treatment," he said.

The tuberculosis conference heard Dr. H. E. Kleinschmidt, director of health education of the National Tuberculosis Association, New York, declare that, medically speaking, it was possible to banish the disease from the world.

He pointed out that "when we say 'abolish' we do so from the standpoint of control." The plague had not disappeared, but it was under control.

New Automatic Pilot

Invention Of Austrian Officer Proves Reliable In Tests

A pilot-robot, which can be installed in any aeroplane is declared on the basis of tests to be more reliable than a human pilot. It is being developed by Austria. It was invented by Captain I. N. Boykov, a former member of the Austrian air force.

The new automatic steering device reacts on atmospheric changes, evades storm areas, finds its way through fog and clouds, and carries out with the greatest exactitude all instructions given by means of a signal equipment from inside the aeroplane or transmitted by radio waves from a far-off station.

This was shown in the trial flights which took place at the Aspern flying field, near Vienna, before representatives of the Austrian government, army and commercial flying experts.

The ingenious invention is regarded as having tremendous potentialities as a weapon in wartime, bombing-planes or gas-carrying aeroplanes could be dispatched over the enemy territory at night or in cloudy weather to their lethal destination.

Friends disclosed that Captain Boykov has been offered a large sum by the German air-ministry for the rights to his invention.

To Make An Impression

The tourist trade in France is only a shadow of what it used to be four or five years ago, but the traffic in hotel stickers for stay-at-home Americans is as flourishing as ever. More than 100,000 baggage labels of Paris hotels have been sent to America this season, it is estimated. In Paris of this number only a small proportion are used for travel in France, while the large remainder are pasted on suitcases to create the impression of globe-trotting.

People would come nearer telling the truth if they put it this way: We welcome criticism, if favorable.

Prince Buys Fast 'Plane

Cruises Long Distance At 140 Miles Per Hour

The Prince of Wales, by his example, has long given a stimulus to private flying in the Old Country. He received recently a new airplane, a Dragon-Rapide twin-engined biplane capable of a maximum speed of more than 150 miles an hour, and of cruising for long distances at 140 m.p.h. It is the fastest craft he has owned.

The machine is similar in main structural details to the standard Rapide, of which forty have been sold in the past few months for airline and private flying in Great Britain and abroad. Its usual seating accommodation for eight passengers is displaced for the Prince's journeys by six comfortable armchairs and special cabin furnishings, including a writing table and a cocktail cabinet. Navigation equipment includes a powerful radio-telephone sending and receiving apparatus, and a complete set of "blind" flying instruments. Parachutes are available for every occupant. Power is derived from two Gipsy-Six cylinder air-cooled motors, each one mounted in nacelles, one on either side of the fuselage. The tanks carry fuel sufficient for nonstop journeys anywhere within the British Isles.

Like all of his previous machines the Prince's new craft is painted in the distinctive red and blue of the Brigade of Guards.

Old Lines Still Marked

Members Of British House Must Stand Within Boundary

A member's unwritten step sent the British House of Commons back hundreds of years.

Sir Lambert Ward was speaking from the front government bench when he was interrupted with cries of "Order, Order," and the House rippled with laughter. He hesitated and looked around, then with an amused glance at his own seat he moved back.

Unaware, he had stepped from the margin into history. Back in more stirring days when gentlemen were wont to come to parliament without a sword, conflicts were not unknown. So the thoughtful Mother of Parliament drew red lines down the floor on both sides of the House. She fixed a No Man's Land, into which no member, while addressing the House is allowed to step. The red lines were just two sword lengths apart.

Members no longer come to Parliament with a sword. But a strip of red carpet still marks the old lines. No member, whether of the government or opposition, may, while speaking, stand beyond the party line. And when Sir Lambert stepped into two sword lengths of the Labor opposition, the House remembered its history and called him to order.

Industry Is Growing

More Accrue Given To Asparagus Growing In B.C.

About 900,000 pounds of asparagus will be produced in British Columbia this year, growers estimate, and returns to farmers will probably exceed $100,000.

Production of this tasty early vegetable is rapidly becoming an important branch of the agricultural industry of the province and on Vancouver Island, in Okanagan Valley and on the Lower Mainland there are approximately 500 acres in asparagus, compared with 350 two years ago and 119 in 1930.

Asparagus is a comparatively new commercial vegetable in B.C. Until recent years, the province depended upon California and Washington for its domestic supply.

Chinese Delicacy

Tons of seaweed from the Pacific coast is transported each week to China where it is sold to Chinese merchants and manufactured into various foodstuffs. It is considered a rare delicacy in the Orient. Great quantities are picked on Victoria beaches, dried in Chinatown and packed into cases for the voyage.

Famous Doctors Have Spent Months Alone In Interests Of Science

It is not only in the frozen regions that men have ended themselves for the sake of science. The famous Dr. Koch, spent eighteen months, alone except for the white helper, in a desolate island in the centre of the great African lake—Victoria Nyanza.

He was investigating the dreaded sleeping sickness which was destroying the natives of the islands and shores of the lake, and made the discovery that the fly which spreads the disease lives on the blood of crocodiles, which it sucks between the scales. Destroy the crocodiles, and the carrier perishes, too.

Another man of medicine, Dr. Andries Verhaegen, banished himself to the centre of the vast island of Sumatra to investigate beri-beri, another terrible tropical disease. On the way he was wrecked, and he and one companion who reached the shore in safety tried to make their way to the nearest native village.

They got into a swamp and were attacked by leeches, not the ordinary bloodsuckers, but a poisonous kind. Dr. Verhaegen lost one eye and came very near to losing his life. Yet after he had recovered he continued his journey and gained valuable information about a cure for beri-beri.

Would Be More Efficient

Fit Of Moderate Size 'Planes Better Than Large One

It may be doubted whether the engineers directly concerned with the problem have been soley responsible for some of the giant planes constructed in recent years.

National pride, and the human desire to own or construct the "largest airplane in the world," just because it could be called that, probably had a great deal to do with the matter.

It is often assumed that only planes of great size can solve the problem of regular trans-oceanic passenger service.

It is conceivable, however, that that problem may rather be solved by sending out fleets of, say, three airplanes of moderate size, which could be more efficient in power plant and fuel consumption, which could reduce the risks of single great disasters, and which would permit two planes to give immediate help to a third that got into difficulties.—New York Times.

CIRCLES

The stars, the moon,
The golden sun,
This spinning Earth
We ride upon.
Are circles
Circles in their way?
More circles bring
Us night and day.

From birth to death
Our whole life span
Is but a circling
Caravan.
From young to old
From low to high
We roll in circles
Till we die.

Yet gladly all
Would move;
A circle shows
Eternal love.

The Flu Menace

Disease Not So Dangerous If Isolated As Soon As Diagnosed

If influenza cases are isolated as soon as diagnosed, the death rate now attributed to the disease would drop to one per cent of its present figure, Dr. J. W. McIntosh of Vancouver said in an address before the vital statistics section of the Ontario Public Health Association.

I am perfectly convinced influenza is not a fatal disease," he said. He had tabulated 2,200 deaths attributed to "flu" but had found in all cases death had actually been due to pneumonia or streptococci, contracted because of overcrowding in hospitals and because of lowered resistance brought on by "flu," he said.

"I have always wondered why a high mountain-top should be considered the ideal place for yodeling," remarks a writer. Apparently he has never heard any yodeling.

Largest Music Library

Collection Given To B.B.C. Collection Is World-Wide

A music library that began thirteen years ago in a tiny top floor room in the Strand, London, has now grown to be the largest of its kind in the world. Housed on the steel shelves of the British Broadcasting Corporation, this working library comprises 20,000 musical titles, ranging from a simple ballad for soprano and piano to a symphony in several movements. There are 100,000 vocal scores, covering the entire field from grand opera to musical comedy. The library contains some music not to be obtained elsewhere and thus brings the most notable productions within reach of the general public. Already ten million British homes rely on the B.B.C. Library for their musical fare, the excellence of which has received worldwide recognition.—The New Outlook.

Pageant Scene Banned

Gordon Riots VIII Not Banned

In London Depicting the Gordon riots of 1780, one of the 12 historical episodes being rehearsed for the Tower of London Pageant in London, has been banned by the British Home Office. No reason, it is understood, has been given for the ban, but another episode is to be substituted. The object of the pageant is to raise funds for the Tower Hill Improvement Organization, of which the Prince of Wales is patron. Lord George Gordon headed the mob which, in June, 1780, marched in procession to the House of Parliament to present a petition against the Catholic Relief Act. A riot followed and continued for several days, during which the city was virtually at the mercy of the mob.

Little Helps For This Week

"Those shall love thy neighbor as thyself." Matthew 19:19.

So others shall Take patience, heart to their hand, From the hand, and thy heart, And the broad cheer, And God's grace magnify Through to all. The least flower with a brimming cup may stand, And share its dewdrop with another near.

What is meant by our neighbor we cannot doubt, it is everyone with whom we are brought into contact. First of all he is literally our neighbor who is next to us in our own family and household. Then it is he who is close to us in our own neighborhood, our own town, in our own street. With these our charity begins. To live and be kind to them is the beginning of all true religion. But begin these, as our Lord teaches, is the one who is thrown across our path by the changes and chances of life, he or she whoever it be that we have means of helping, the unfortunate stranger we may meet in travelling, the friend whom no one else cares to look after.

When Caesar was a boy

The Forum was the common market-place for all of ancient Rome. Today a few crumblin columns stand as mute reminders of its former grandeur.

In our present day complex civilization, market-places have become scattered. It is no longer possible to visit them all in a morning—or even in a day.

Advertising, instead, has become the convenient Forum of modern buyers and sellers. If you are considering the purchase of a new car, you scrutinize the automobile advertising. Or if it's a razor or a radio that you want, you turn again to the advertising. Here is the national market place of merchandise.

Furthermore, as you leaf over those same pages of products, your mind is storing away for tomorrow a compact and valuable fund of information. Instinctively, you will remember those facts when you make your future purchases.

Advertising has become the common market-place of this twentieth century

A magistrate told an eighty-year-old prisoner that he ought to be ashamed of picking pockets at his age. But in all fairness to the erring octogenarian it must be admitted that he is neither old to be a burglar.

A man was sentenced in court to imprisonment for stealing a kiss from a girl in a train. The magistrate, we understand, ignored his offer to let him out to dinner. He usually does.

The man who makes tacless remarks at a dinner table should be kicked, stated a Gleichen man after he had been out to dinner. He usually is if his wife is sitting neighbor.

Scott was announced. A large crowd was present and the bride-to-be was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts. Good music and much dancing was enjoyed until twelve o'clock when a delicious lunch was served, after which a mock wedding was staged by Messrs. Goldsmith, Allan Etheridge, Cooper, Robson, J. Cooper and G. Allen, which added a spice of merriment to the occasion. Miss Davenport is a well-known and very popular young lady with a very wide circle of well wishing friends.

Mayor J. E. Ostrander, has received word that his five cousins in Toronto, who are operating five jewelry stores in that city have complimented the Dionne quintuplets with five diamond rings in honor of their birthday. The cousins Vic, Jack, Ken, Erne and Neil Ostrander are all alive and have for 20 years been operating five stores in Toronto. The presentation was made by the Hon. Duncan Marshall, Minister of Agriculture, who is well known in Alberta, having served as Minister of Agriculture for eleven years in the Alberta House. The event was one of wide interest in the Ontario Capital since the five Ostrander brothers are well known to everyone in the city on account of their business activities.

"The man of the house can easily clean a carpet by beating it with a cane," says a newspaper. Small boys will enthusiastically agree in this case.

There is a good case for suggesting that every farmer and his family are entitled to a short holiday each year. In the evidence recently given before a commission many farmers spoke of the courageous support which had been afforded to them in their fight with adversity by their wives and daughters. The commission felt that special preference should be made to the part which women have been playing in maintaining the industry of late years. On the average their work is harder than that of their sisters in the city, and the activities of various organizations in the different provinces should have wider support in order that the home life of the farmer can be improved.
